Project

Field(s)	Audio Production - Podcasts
Description	We are developing a European podcast network. The aim of this network will be to produce creative, story driven, literary and culture focused podcasts that share the cultures and stories of European countries across Europe and worldwide. The network will have several strands. 1. We will provide marketing support to independent creative podcasts to help market their shows outside of their countries and outside of Europe. 2. We will create new literary and story driven podcasts that are cross country collaborations in Europe. 3. We will provide education and training to new producers in Europe. 4. We will create an international podcast festival to showcase independent works (experimental, sound designed, story driven pieces) and provide an opportunity for our listeners to engage with and learn more about the podcast creators on our network.
